

Job Opportunity – General Manager

Are you a strategic leader with a passion for sustainability and business growth? Join Bambuparque, a nursery specializing in bamboo (potted plants, poles and various related products), located in Odemira (Portugal), as our Managing Director and help shape the future of sustainable agriculture, landscaping and bamboo-based industries!

About us

Since 1990, Bambuparque has been at the forefront of bamboo cultivation, supplying over 100 species of bamboo for landscaping, windbreaks, agriculture and even feeding the pandas! We also manufacture sustainable products derived from bamboo, such as Bamboo Vinegar, Bamboo Hydrolate, Bamboo Charcoal and other related products. In addition, we regularly organize educational workshops.

As we expand our presence across Europe, we are looking for a visionary leader to drive our growth and take our operations to the next level.

Main Responsibilities

Manage and oversee all business operations.

Develop and implement growth strategies for our activities.

Suggest partnerships with clients, suppliers and key stakeholders.

◆ Lead and optimize production processes, supply chain and operations.

Ensure the company's financial stability through budgeting, forecasting and cost optimization.

Ensuring that the company's rules are respected by everyone.

◆ Monitoring market trends and identifying new business opportunities.

What we're looking for

If possible, experience in senior leadership roles, preferably in the areas of agriculture, sustainability or industrial production.

Strong business acumen, with the ability to drive revenue growth and operational efficiency.

Experience in the agricultural sector.

Interest in sustainability and ecological solutions.

Leadership, decision-making and problem-solving skills.

Fluency in Portuguese and English (French is an advantage).

Experience in international markets and expansion strategies will be a plus.
